Dear Sir

I am offering at private sale a very fine antique Greek coin, a tetradrachm of Lysimachus, with an especially beautiful head of Alexander.

It is a museum piece, and I thought perhaps your curator
Curator would like to see it before it is offered elsewhere

Yours very truly

Dear Sir:

Please pardon my delay in replying to your note concerning the tetradrachm of Lysimachus. The person interested in this coin has been away but I expect him in the first of next week. If you still have the piece and care to send it up here I will show it to him on his arrival here.

Very truly yours,

Curator
